Novabase strengthens focus on the Financial sector and acquires Binómio

Lisbon, 31 May 2012

Novabase has decided to acquire the full share capital of Binómio, a company specialising in financial assets management solutions, for an amount indexed to its future performance. This investment is part of Novabase's growth strategy for the Financial Services sector.

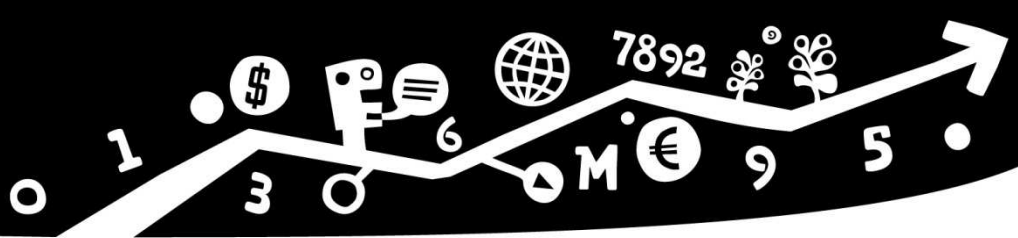

Binómio holds a paramount position in Portugal with insurance and pension management companies. It also has customers in the PALOPs (African Portuguese Speaking Countries), namely in Angola. The company has developed Binfólio, a modular solution for Equity Management, Real Estate Management, Portfolio and Risk Modelling, Performance Assessment and Portfolio Optimization.

For Nuno Fórneas, member of the Executive Committee of Novabase and responsible for the Financial Services sector, "This acquisition will strengthen our business specialization. Furthermore, it is aligned with our internationalization process, as we add to our product and services portfolio a set of distinguishing competencies in an industry with high potential in the geographies where we are focused."

According to Vítor Espírito Santo, CEO of Binómio, "Integration with Novabase will enable the acceleration of international growth and an improved use of all our team competencies. Our customers will benefit from a broader set of services and capability and specialized infrastructures, aligned with their strategic needs."
